“I have my own theory about why decline happens at companies like IBM or Microsoft. The company does a great job, innovates and becomes a monopoly or close to it in some field, and then the quality of the product becomes less important. The company starts valuing the great salesmen, because they’re the ones who can move the needle on revenues, not the product engineers and designers. So the salespeople end up running the company.” Excerpt from Walter Isaacson’s book, “Steve Jobs”

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ of Peace and Grue Parish,

Blessings to you as we continue our journey together as brothers and sisters in Christ. Many of you know that my husband Monty is a commodities broker, and we often share various articles with another related to both of our vocations. It never surprises me when an article he’s shared with me related to the financial world is also applicable to church life. Last week he shared an article, “Think Different” from Jared Dillian’s Substack newsletter. Dillian speaks about innovation, and how complacency and getting stuck in a “This is the way it’s always been done!” mindset prohibits innovation. We can certainly see this over the past several decades in the church universal. We forget how radically counter-cultural Jesus was in his ministry, and that Christ and the most influential historical leaders of the church were less concerned about their comfort levels than simply prioritizing the seemingly simple, commission of Christ, to love God and to love and care for our neighbor, all of them.

Our human natures gravitate towards the familiar, and that’s a beautiful thing to cherish beloved hymns, traditional worship elements, especially during times such as Christmas and Easter. But that can’t be the only thing, the world that we’re called into is constantly changing, and we’ve seen how limiting “church success” to things we can quantify such as attendance and offering can stifle our imaginations. Not unlike the Steve Jobs quote I’ve posted above, we need to shift our focus on worldly defined “results” to what Christ is calling us to do to love and serve a hurting world. A pretty big ask, but in Dillian’s article, he talks about how we humans are only open to small incremental changes, which in the church is certainly true. But that shouldn’t discourage us from taking small steps to try new things. That said, it doesn’t mean throwing the baby out with the bathwater either. Change with no purpose and only for the sake of change gets us nowhere. Perhaps if we take a step back, shift our focus from “running a church” to the ministry of loving service Christ calls us to, our collective imaginations will open up to seemingly small changes that can be woven into our ministry. I would love to hear and visit with you regarding the things in church that you find comforting as well as any innovative ideas you have to enhance and improve how we are church and community together.

Monty and I continue to pray for all of you, for safety, for patience, and perseverance and that you are reminded of God’s presence and finding the hope of the Risen Christ. Just as we are transformed in Christ, together we are agents of transformation within our community in ways large and small.

God’s peace to you and all you hold dear, Pastor Julie

Set your minds on the things that are above, not on the things that are on earth, Colossians 3:2

They treat us with respect and love,
they treat us like their child.
God blessed me with an Angel,

She's been with me throughout my

PEACE Bible Study:

Tuesday, May 19th, 9:00am @ PEACE

4/22/26

The Grue Women's Bible Study met at the Assisted Living Center on the 21st of April at 1:30 pm.

Our lesson was on the Signs of the Times (Mark 13). This study covers Jesus' final words of warning and encouragement to his disciples about two coming events. Our lesson was led by Pastor Julie, with Beverly attending, it's always great having her join us.

Purpose: to show how fulfilled promises made by Jesus inspire our watchfulness for the greatest promise of all - the promise that Jesus will come back in glory to receive his own.

Our next lesson will be lesson 4. Grappling with Radical Evil, (2 Thessalonians 2) on May 19th at 1:30 at Assisted Living.

Purpose: to learn how to stand firm during times when we encounter almost overwhelming evil in society.

Spring is on its way, what a beautiful day we had today, the May flowers are poking their faces out to enjoy the sun.

Remember, kindness never goes out of style.

God Bless

Bea Runnigen, Sec.

PEACE WELCA MESSAGE.....May 2026

Well, certainly looks like Spring! Thank you Jesus

Celebrating our Volunteers and blessing upcoming planting and gardening season was fun on Sunday, 4/5. Pastor Julie also talked about doubting Thomas and how he gets a bad rap occasionally. I, too, have many doubts but not that Sunday. I was thrilled at the turnout for Coffee cup Sunday and observing from back of room, was equally thrilled and honored by all the volunteers. It's a fact the majority in that room give of their time and talents not only within church but outside our walls throughout the community.

Thank you to Darcy, Duane, Kevin and Val for helping with Easter services and Darcy's willingness to read.

Winner of the flannel quilt at Second Chance Thrift in April was Heidi Strommen from Battle Lake.

Quilt for the May drawing is, of course, a Minnesota themed lap quilt with a cozy flannel back in honor of our State entering the union on May 11, 1858.

If you are interested in a visit by Pastor Julie, please call the office.

Sister in Christ and WELCA Co President, Janet Novak

P.S. - Did you see announcement for Sunday School services led by Carol Koefod? We appreciate Carol sharing her time and talents!

Please check your contact information in Annual Report and WELCA handbook for accuracy. Call church office at 218-747-2273 to provide correct information.

This year’s theme invites us to reflect on how God’s grace moves through the digital spaces we inhabit — from livestream worship to Zoom Bible studies, from Instagram prayers to text-message pastoral care.

Acts 1:8 reminds us that the Spirit sends us outward into every corner of the world, including the online and hybrid spaces where our communities increasingly gather, seek connection, and encounter hope. As a fully virtual assembly, we will embody the theme by gathering across distance, witnessing together to God’s presence in digital ministry.
